A Markov chain is a stochastic model describing a sequence of possible events in which the probability of each event depends only on the state attained in the previous event.. In probability theory and related fields, a Markov process, named after the Russian mathematician Andrey Markov, is a stochastic process that satisfies the Markov property (sometimes characterized as "memorylessness").

General definition. An  $n$ th root of unity, where  $n$  is a positive integer (i.e.  $n = 1, 2, 3, \dots$ ), is a number  $z$  satisfying the equation  $z^n = 1$ . Unless otherwise specified, the roots of unity may be taken to be complex numbers (including the number 1, and the number  $-1$  if  $n$  is even, which are complex with a zero imaginary part), and in this case, the  $n$ th roots of unity are CROSSOVER BACK TO INDEX. The crossover features LR2 filter for bass-mid and LR4 for mid-tweeter sections. As these speakers are designed to be placed horizontally, crossover lobing is a concern and here the LR4, due to reduced overlap does better. LR4 for bass-mid was tried but didn't pay off, hence the simpler LR2 at this stage.

The first speaker in the Jenzen series comes with modest priced drivers, yet delivers a significant soundstage. Size matters and using drivers with a decent membrane area means they don't have to move much. In particular for the midrange this is important and releasing it of the tedious task of pumping bass, things start developing.

A440 â€œ a standard method of tuning in which the note A above Middle C has a frequency of 440 Hz (cycles per second). In 1936, ANSI adopted the standard establishing 440 Hz for the pitch of A above Middle C. Previously, a variety of tuning methods were in existence, with A having frequencies ranging from 373 Hz to 457 Hz. ISO adopted this standard in 1955.
